HAPPENINGS

CURRENTS: Theme Groups

New theme groups begin this week with "currents" as the guiding topic. In Deb's group, kids will embody the systems of the body as they create a working model of the human body's systems. Jon's group will prepare to explore our relevant, current events in preparation for writing their own school newspaper. Reporters from the Trib and News are slated to come in to share their experiences as reporters/writers. Kim's group will be diving deep into deep water ocean currents for a closer look at this phenomenon and the force driving these currents!

Salmon Dissection Friday

On Friday afternoon we will welcome biologist Tim Blackmon from Alaska Department of Fish and Game. Tim will be conducting a salmon dissection with our kids to support the hatching of our Coho fry. This will run in two groups: 12:30-1:30 and 1:40-2:40. Please feel free to participate if you'd like.

Student-Led Parent Teacher Conference

There is no school on Thursday and Friday, Feb. 6th and 7th and I am now scheduling conferences for these dates. Please call me at 235-9728 to arrange your student's conference. Thanks-Janet

NITTY GRITTY INFORMATION

WE NEED SILVERWARE - CAN YOU HELP?

Our supply of silverware has dwindled to dangerously low levels and is in need of restocking. Could you check at home for any school silverware that made its way to your kitchen? And, if thrift store shopping is in your future and you're able, fork and spoon donations are readily accepted here!
